DIGITAL SUPPLY CHAIN DIALOGUE

Hosted by The Procurement Council (TPC) and The Shippers Council (TSC)

Date: 1 March 2018

Time: 3-7pm

Venue: Supply Chain City, Level 2 Innovation Playground
(8 Bulim Avenue #02-03 S648166)

Overview

“To win in the digital economy, we have to reimagine how we design, plan, make, deliver, and operate our assets.”

Digital supply chain disruption is in full swing. Today’s hottest companies – Uber, Airbnb, Netflix, and Alibaba – are all service providers that own no actual inventory. The digital economy will transform the way we live and work, how business runs, and how society functions – and it will do this in a timeframe that is much shorter than any other major economic transition in history.

Companies must develop an environment in which they can manage information and processes simultaneously across the extended supply chain. This new evolution of supply chain is more connected, intelligent, responsive, and predictive. It enables companies to drive customer-centric processes and deliver personalized products uniquely built and delivered for the “segment of one.” These demanding customers have to be serviced across a business network of global partners, who are increasingly challenged by resource scarcity.
